House in Boston, he is assured, will find his accommodations better, his means more ample, and his digénie quite as attracting; and from such strangers in this city, as love ex-

DR. SEGUR'S RESTORATIVE STOMACH PILLS.

I N administering to his own relief medicine he had prepared for some dyspeptic patients of too delicate habits to admit of ordinary treatment, Dr. Segur noticed certain peculiar effects on the system which led to the knowledge of the virtues of the medicine presented under the above name. He does not put forth these pills as one of the cures of the age. The distinguishing characteristic claimed for them, and indeed called them from mere professional use, is the extraordinary efficacy and aptitude they have exhibited in the cure of obstinate dyspeptic cases connected with nervous and debilitated constitutions, forbidding powerful medicine and induce a mild diet.

In these cases the Pills have exhibited the two following requisites combined, viz: direct and powerful effect in removing the disease, with gentle and delicate effects on the system otherwise; that the cure is performed without that disturbance of the system attendant on ordinary treatment, which so often, unawares, sinks the patient below the possibility of recovery.

Subsequent use, however, has shown these pills to possess almost as decided powers and advantages in the following cases, which no doubt have kindred origin or a sympathetic connection with the class of cases in which the virtues of this medicine were first observed.

1st. Nervous affections and weaknesses, more peculiar to females, than accompany with a train of distresses and symptoms, as addictions to various diets.

2d. Bowel complaints in children, whether habitual or occasioned by the season, fruits, colds, &c.

3d. Persons recovering from acute diseases, as fevers, or severe bodily injuries, left with local debilities, coldness, and numbness of the limbs, dullness of circulation, general depression of the mind, and energy of the system, &c.

4th. Another striking effect has been exhibited in the use of this medicine, which Dr. Segur would have understood more by way of illustrating the nature of the medicine, than as a general recommendation. An elderly gentleman, long afflicted with dyspepsy, was cured by the use of these Pills—and at the same time recovered the activity of his limbs and general functions so essentially, that he declared that he had been restored to years of comparative comfort and usefulness, which age had administered him and passed by forever.

5th. In cases of occasional derangement of health consequent on colds, exhaustion, overloading the stomach, too long continued bodily or mental effort, sedentary or confined pursuits and the like, where nature needs but ass'tance to overcome present oppressions, and prevent more serious consequences, these Pills have a decided advantage over ordinary medicines; for while they remove present difficulties, they create and leave a more healthy tone and tendency in the system.

The following observations will enable the reader to judge, in some measure, of the peculiar nature of the virtue of these Pills.

1st. They perform their office by exerting a steady and gradual influence on the system the whole time, day and night, till the cure is complete or nearly so.

2d. The principle on which these Pills act upon the constitution requires that they should perform their office in connection with our daily food, each yielding and receiving mutual assistance, that their joint product may become natural and congenial to the several organs it must visit to refresh and nourish the several parts of the system.

3d. Contrary to the effect of medicine generally, the longer this is used the less quantity is necessary to produce the same effect.

4th. When used in appropriate quantity, the operation of these Pills is without any sensible effect on the feelings, other than a more regular and natural condition of body and mind.

N. B.—One or two of these Pills will suffice to dispel the unpleasant effects of long dinners and late suppers. They are peculiarly suited to the use of travellers and men of business, as they afford relief without interruption, and at the same time improve the disposition of the body and mind for exertion.

CERTIFICATES.

This may make known that, for years past, I have been laboring under a peculiar state of health and was brought very low, although most of the time able to take some exercise, and have some charge of my domestic concerns. During most of the time my symptoms were distressing indeed. The the isles of the Pacific to "bob for whales," but not unfrequently go to Assumpit Ponds to "bob for pickerel" instead. One of the sleepers was recently sent into the vault of Mr Biddle's Bank, who, when asked if the Bank had much strength to consult, answered, No. As the best miss it sometimes, so do the worst hit it occasionally.

Just at this time Phrenology is "all the go." A man should be estimated (says the lecturer) according to the undulations on his cranium, and not according to those on his pocket-book. This is a good doctrine, but the whigs condemn it. There are a couple of practical Headologists here, from Gotham, who are peddling the science at a dollar a head—(just the price of calves head and pluck on the market,) and the way that they cut and thrust upon those who hold their heads for public examination, in the course of their evening lectures, is a caution to villains. Some of those who have been considered the moral and religious exemplars of the town, are declared to be devoid of conscientiousness, controlled by secretiveness, destructiveness, combative ness, amative ness, and all that sort o' thing, while the heads of some of the questionable characters are said to be plump with the organs of benevolence, veneration, adhesiveness, et cetera. If Phrenology be true, there is many a defective wheel and screw in the machinery of society. These lecturers will fab some fifteen hundred dollars here, this week. The community are almost stark mad on the subject; and it would seem that we were approaching a state of society, when a man's character, is described and written out by a practical phrenologist, shall be the only matter of introduction into decent society.

The Court of Common Pleas, for this county, (Bristol,) is now in session, Judge Strong, presiding.

In this quarter of Salt River, we are comfortable—the winter quarters are in such good repair, that we have concluded to remain here until next year.

Yours to the core,

CYRENEUS CULPEPPER.

Several of the federal papers of the city have suddenly dropped Mr Fletcher's case in despair. The Mercantile has n't yet been able to pry through the "mystery," though it seems to think the Atlas tells about the truth. The Centinel took another sweat at the business yesterday. This faithful follower talked round and round the subject without even grazing a single point at issue. There is, however, a disposition manifested to quarrel with the Atlas.

We again aver that all attempts to clear up Mr Fletcher's case are idle and hopeless. The bad features of it will stick out, prominently, beyond the thickest coat of whitewash that can be applied to it. The federal managers are themselves deceived if they suppose they can arrest the just consequences of the exposure of such high handed juggling on their part, as has been brought to light within the compass of a week. They may rest assured that the sanguineous people of this state will at once discover what sort of stuff federal whig statements and "disclosures" of alleged Executive encroachments are made of. You are all found out, gentlemen, and depend upon it the honest will no longer suffer themselves to be misled, cheated, humbugged and disgraced by your political Munchausenism.

(3) It seems that Mr Briggs declines the honor of filling the vacancy in the Committee of Ways and Means, occasioned by Mr Fletcher's withdrawal. We infer that Mr B. would n't take very special pride in being set to work by the Boston federal whig "Committee of Safety," to prove the government corrupt and despotic. Mr Fletcher's fate is "a caution" in that particular. After this, a man that has an eye to his own personal reputation, must be clear as to enlisting as a manufacturer of "awful disclosures" against the administration, to help the whig cause along in the elections.

Mr Eaton.—We attended the National on Monday evening, to see Mr Eaton in Richard, his personation of which has gained him very enviable distinction throughout the Union. He has improved very much within a year, particularly in his walk and general carriage upon the boards. We were much gratified to see so many of Eaton's friends defying the weather, to be edified by his noble acting. Those who wish to give encouragement to a townsmen, who ranks among the best living actors should not forget the National during the present week. On Friday, Eaton's Benefit, let Boston boys turn out en masse and give him a bumper. We will engage that they never saw Ludovico played so well as it will be played on that evening. At the West the editors said it had never been equalled.

H.

Madame Caradori—Our correspondent of yesterday, ("SNAP") asks, "whoever heard of this lady till her arrival in New York?" We would refer him for an answer to the article on our First Page. He will there find that CARADORI ALLAN has received a first-rate musical education, and is somewhat known to fame, although not so fortunate as Mrs Wood in being known to "SNAP." We are happy to learn that MADAME C'S CONCERT is not delayed by her illness, as was reported, but by some difficulty in procuring a suitable Hall.

The Trial of Dr Frost, the Thomsonian practitioner, at New York, excites great interest. Important principles are involved. The Journal of Commerce of Tuesday says the trial is likely to last several days more.

(3) The most knowing ones, among the federalists, are unanimous in the opinion that Mr Fletcher's direful mishap, will injure their party more than the New York election and Webster's jokes at East Boston together, have helped it. "The mourners go about the streets."

A chance for the children.—The following advertisement appeared in the Philadelphia Gazette:—

"To a person who is retired, and having no male descendants, an opportunity is offered of adopting a young gentleman of rather striking personal appearance. Particulars at this office."

A Soup House is about to be established by a Female Benevolent Society in Philadelphia. The object is to supply a portion of the city poor with good nourishing soup daily.

The Dinner to Mr Forrest, at Philadelphia, is spoken of as a prime affair. Speeches were made by the Hon. J. K. Ingoldsby, Recorder Conrad, Mr Chandler, Mr Leggett, &c.

Jonathan P. Gilliam is appointed by the President and Senate to be Consul of the U. States for the port of Monterey, in Mexico.

Turkeys sell for $2 and $2.50 apiece at Detroit. Provisions of all kinds are considered remarkably high there.

The senior editor of the Courier writes from Washington that "from what we have just heard, we presume that Mr Fletcher will take some method of communicating to his constituents such explanations as he may deem due to them and to himself."

The only method Mr F. can take to place himself in Curia, is to show that it is the Atlas and not he that has falsified respecting his speech. All other explanations will be sought.—Advocate.

Mutiny.—The crew of the ship Annaway, lying at Quarantine, mutinied yesterday morning and prevented the vessel from getting to sea. A signal of distress was hoisted and a boat's crew from the sloop of war John Adams, armed with cutlasses, repaired on board the ship yesterday afternoon. All was quiet on board the ship yesterday afternoon, when the steamboat Samson passed her on her way to this city.—N. Y. Gaz.

MUNICIPAL COURT.

Indictment against two Abolitionists for Kidnapping a Colored Child.—Yesterday morning, John and Sophia Robinson, colored people, were put on trial, for kidnapping a colored girl, aged five years, from Mr Henry Bright, of Cambridge, on Sunday, the 17th of September last. The indictment is based upon the 20th section, chapter 126, of the Revised Statutes, the main design of which seems, from its tenor, to be for the prevention of kidnapping colored persons, with the view to enslaving them, but its provisions are broad enough to cover other species of kidnapping. It is as follows:—

"SECT. 20. Every person who, without lawful authority, shall forcibly or secretly confine or imprison a white person, within this State, agains his will, or shall forcibly carry or send such person out of this State, or shall forcibly seize and confine, or shall inveigle or kidnap any other person, with intent either to cause such person to be secretly confined or imprisoned in this State, against his will, or to cause such person to be sent out of this State against his will, or to be a slave, or in any way held to service against his will; and every person, who shall sell, or in any manner transfer for any term the service or labor of any negro, mulatto, or other person, who is not a slave, to another, with intent to kidnap, inveigle or kidnap from this State, to any other State, place, or country, shall be punished by imprisonment in the State Prison, not more than ten years, or by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, and imprisonment in the county jail, not more than two years."

The witnesses who testified to the main facts, in support of the accusation against the prisoners, were Henry Bright, Samuel E. Sewall, Ellis Gray Loring, Rev. Mr Snowden, and the Misses Mary S. and Eliza Parker. The first witness called was—

Henry Bright—I have lived in Cambridge since May last—the year before I lived in Connecticut. Two years ago my residence was in Mobile, Alabama. At Mobile our cook was a slave—she was the mother of Elizabeth, the child referred to in the indictment. She was a very worthy woman, and on her death bed she sent for my wife about her child. What passed between her and my wife, I only know from what she told me afterwards. She said she had promised to bring the child up. Since her death, my wife has always taken care of the child as her own. The child was very affectionate, and much attached to Mrs Bright, and Mrs Bright was very much attached to her. She formed a part of my family in September, and on the 17th, a Sunday, in the early part of the day, she was missed, and we have not seen her since. I made immediate inquiries about her, and was told that she had been taken away in a carriage by a Mrs Robinson, but I could not ascertain who Mrs Robinson was. I supposed that she had been taken away under an impression, that she was a slave; and therefore I thought I would go to some influential abolitionists, and explain. On Monday, I called on Samuel E. Sewall, Esq., and stated to him the fact of the child's mother's death, and that we had brought her to this State with a view of educating and raising it. I told him I had sold out in Alabama, with the intention of purchasing a residence here, and that I did not intend to return to Alabama as a resident. I told Mr Sewall that I came to him with a disposition to give him entire satisfaction to that effect; and would give any security or bonds required that our only purpose was to raise the girl as a free child. Mr Sewall suggested to me, that it might be well for me to draw up a paper, declaring my intention to free the child. I signed such a declaration. The next morning—(Tuesday)—I called again Mr Sewall's, and he said he thought the Rev. Mr Snowden, the colored clergyman, could find the child; but that Mr Snowden had suggested, that a bond would be more satisfactory to the colored people, than the paper I had signed, I then left a bond for $500, guaranteed by Messrs N. F. Cunningham & Co.

A colored child, named Elizabeth, aged about five years, having been brought to me, on suspicion of being a slave, I think it right to declare that I do not claim her as a slave; that when she was brought here, it was with the intention of having her free and as brought; and though I intend to go to the South to spend this winter, I have no design of taking her back. Mrs Bright is attached to the child, and wishes to bring her up to a useful woman.

I hereby promise never to claim the said Elizabeth as a slave, or to carry or send her to the slave-holding States as one. It may be proper to add, that Mrs Bright is an immediate abolitionist.
